

Show Me The Colors

(tune: Muffin Man)

This is a great song for color recognition skills. Children sit together and the teacher sings:

Oh can you show me something green ... something green ... something green
Oh can you show me something green somewhere in the room?

The teacher chooses a child who has their hand raised and that child goes and points to something green (we use pointers). That child can then choose the next child to go after the teacher sings the lyrics with a different color.

Sing the song with as many different colors as you like.
